

Vergil's Aeneid II.792-804

“Ter cōnātus ibī collō dare bracchia circum;
ter frūstrā comprēnsa manūs effūgit imāgō,
pār levibus ventīs, volucrīque simillima somnō.

Sīc dēmum sociōs, cōnsūptā nocte revīsō.

Atque hīc ingentem comitum adflūxisse novōrum
inveniō, admirāns numerum, mātresque virōsque,
collēctam exsiliō pūbem, miserābile vulgus.

Undique convēnēre animīs opibusque parātī
in quāscumque velim pelagō dēdūcere terrās.

Iamque iugīs summae surgēbat Lūcifer Īdae
dūcēbatque diem, Danaīque obsessa tenēbant līmina portārum, nec spēs opis ūlla dabātur.

Cessī et sublātō montēs genitōre petīvī.”
